A TEACHER WHO INSPIRED ME

Mr. Frederick Lawson was my High School Math teacher at Benjamin Franklin High School in New Orleans. I was lucky enough to be taught by a man who had some of the highest standards of any teacher I ever seen. He was relentless in wanting every student to improve and achieve their best. Every question was expected to be answered with our best effort. He drove us to maintain high standards and pushed us to our limits. He was demanding, enthusiastic, and inspiring all at the same time.
